ORIGIN STORY

Must follow Donald Miller's Story Brand 7-Part Framework

<https://www.creativeo.co/post/storybrand-framework>

Character journey through ignorance, struggle and enlightenment or the realisation of a problem and the voluntary decision to be/offer the solution

- A Character: Define the customer's desire.
 - Has a Problem (which exists on 3 levels, being - emotional, physical, philosophical/spiritual): Identify and address the problems.
 - And Meets a Guide: Present your brand as a guide.
 - Who Gives Them a Plan: Outline the plan or process.
 - And Calls Them to Action: Create a compelling call to action.
 - That Helps Them Avoid Failure: Outline the risks of not acting.
 - And Ends in Success: Describe the successful resolution.

TAGLINE

Statement provoking emotional association or expression of highest self or general objective statement of products or services offered.

SLOGAN

Competitive advantage or differentiating factor within the parameters of a campaign - so it should be seasonal but always relevant to the USP / Superpower.

CHARACTER

CHARITY: What breaks their heart?

CAUSE: Who is the business overtly or covertly fighting for or backing?

CONVICTION: What makes them angry?

VALUES: Finite selection of options with distinct definitions which directly inform and fuel the conviction. The values are most likely the foundation for the conviction. THAT'S A SHORTCUT. SPEND INTENTIONAL TIME CARVING THIS OUT DURING THE CONSULT.

INTENT

VISION: The desired end of/for the matter. An image or expectation/hope for what is not (currently)

MISSION: Need / problem + sent to carry out what action + sent to (who)

MESSAGE: What awaits / is possible (or warning) - a promise. What the recipient gets out of it (the mission).
